Central California Hispanic Chamber of Commerce: The Central California Hispanic Chamber of Commerce (CCHCC) was founded in 1984 and has continued to support local businesses around the central valley for more than 20 years. The mission of the Central California Hispanic Chamber of Commerce is to promote, stimulate and support Hispanic owned business. The Chamber creates, maintains, and improves a favorable business environment, which strengthens the financial position of its members and contributes to the socioeconomic well being of the community.

National Parks Conservation Association: Since 1919, the nonpartisan, nonprofit National Parks Conservation Association has been the leading voice of the American people in protecting and enhancing our National Park System. NPCA, its 340,000 members, and partners work together to protect the park system and preserve our nation's natural, historical, and cultural heritage for generations to come.

Yosemite National Park: Yosemite National Park embraces a spectacular tract of mountain-and-valley scenery in the Sierra Nevada, which was set aside as a national park in 1890. The park harbors a grand collection of waterfalls, meadows, and forests that include groves of giant sequoias, the world's largest living things. Highlights of the park include Yosemite Valley, and its high cliffs and waterfalls; Wawona's history center and historic hotel; the Mariposa Grove, which contains hundreds of ancient giant sequoias; Glacier Point's (summer-fall) spectacular view of Yosemite Valley and the high country; Tuolumne Meadows (summer-fall), a large subalpine meadow surrounded by mountain peaks; and Hetch Hetchy, a reservoir in a valley considered a twin of Yosemite Valley.

Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Park: Although Congress created these two parks in the southern Sierra Nevada at different times, Sequoia and Kings Canyon share miles of boundary and are managed as one park. Sequoia was the second national park designated in this country. General Grant National Park, the forerunner of Kings Canyon, was third. Sequoia & Kings Canyon National Parks are located in the southern Sierra Nevada mountain range, which is very close to the central valley. These parks are home to giants: immense mountains, deep canyons, and huge trees. Thanks to their huge elevational range, 1,500' to 14,491', these parks protect stunningly diverse habitats.

Yosemite Association: The Yosemite Association is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit membership organization; since 1923, it has initiated and supported a variety of interpretive, educational, research, scientific, and environmental programs in Yosemite National Park, in cooperation with the National Park Service. Revenue generated by our publishing program, our park visitor center bookstores, Yosemite Outdoor Adventures, membership dues, and donations enables us to provide services and direct financial support that promote park stewardship and enrich the visitor experience.
